A New Orleans judge ordered to release seven inmates awaiting trial because the Louisiana doesn't have money to defend them. Some of them have spent more than half a year awaiting a trial, but the city failed to provide the legal help to them. Each year the budget is shredding, but the Louisiana remains the state with the highest incarceration rate.

Each year the system incarcerates thousands of black men and women for minor violations, but they let go the murderers and rapists. What is wrong with our country???
